

NOSTALGIA

Forgetting what lies behind, I step forward
Into the bright light of another day,
Into the strong security of an unknown future
With both feet firmly in real life today.

Yet all that I have been and longed to be
Walks forward with me now from day to day
Old lessons learned, new ones beginning,
The continuity that is Christ in me.

When life is over and the new begun
And death at last engulfed by victory,
The realisation then of what I've hoped for,
That I should be like him and he like me.

Dave Taylor 28 May 1991

Further copies can be downloaded from www.justonecandle.uk